Unless special circumstances exist, shippers are required to prepare the following forms. Shipping from Canada to USA Shipping from USA to Canada The information on the Bill of Lading must be consistent with the information listed on the Commercial Invoice, it must contain a complete and accurate description of the goods, and the name of the Customs Broker (or their appointed agents) at the frontier port or inland surferance warehouse. Commercial Invoice You will need two copies of the Commercial Invoice, one must accompany the freight from the point of pickup to the point of customs clearance, the other should be attached to the Bill of Lading. This document is simply an invoice with a complete description of the goods being shipped, along with the proper valuations and currency information. Canada Customs Invoice This document should accompany the freight from the point of pickup to the point of customs clearance. An additional copy should be attached to the Bill of Lading. If border clearance is indicated on the Bill of Lading, please write "PARS Clearance" on the Canada Customs Invoice. Certificate of Origin The Certificate of Origin is used by the broker to determine the correct rate of duty under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). If this document is missing, the highest rates may be applied to each consignment, and U.S. Customs may not allow the goods into the country. * Importing To Canada There are two ways to clear freight moving into Canada; either at the border (PARS) or at an inland surferance warehouse. Unless your customer requests otherwise, you should request a border clearance via PARS (Pre-arrival review system) in order to minimize cost and expedite your shipment. *Note: If any forms are incomplete, your shipment may fail PARS which may result in your shipment being re-directed to an inland surferance warehouse for clearance. Pre-arrival Review System (PARS) The Pre-arrival Review System (PARS) is one option of the line release process which is available to importers. The PARS release information contains the shipment's estimated time and date of arrival, the invoice data and the original copy of any required permits. You can submit PARS documentation/data up to 30 days before the goods arrive in Canada, so Canada Customs can process the documentation and enter the cargo control number and either a recommendation for release or examination into our computer system. The release recommendation will be ready when your goods arrive if you submit your PARS request at least EDI 1 hour in advance Paper 2 hours in advance When your shipment arrives, Canada Customs will release it in minutes unless an examination is required. For further information on PARS please contact your customs broker. Updated May 31, 2022A Canadian commercial invoice is a document that may be completed in either English or French and is used when sending a package internationally, not only to ensure the safety of the contents and to inform customs as to the details of the contents but also to detail the taxes owing for the estimated value of the contents. When shipping to Canada, you have three invoicing options: a Canada Customs Invoice (CCI) which either you or the vendor can complete; a commercial invoice containing the same information as a CCI; or a commercial invoice which indicates the buyer, seller, country of origin, price paid or payable and a detailed description of the goods, including quantity, and a CCI that provides the remaining information. To help simplify your options, Livingston has created a streamlined CCI that contain all of the elements required by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA).
